- Smart AC/DC distribution boxes: Products like the Cworth E-BOX Smart AC/DC Distribution Box with 220V, 63A rating, and lightning/overload protection are available through KWT Tech Mart. - Switchboards and power cabinets from established brands: Companies like Legrand Uganda and Chint Uganda offer branded smart distribution cabinets with certified installation, which can cost US$ 700,000 and above, depending on the number of circuits, modularity, and smart metering capabilities .

- Standard distribution boards: Tronic Uganda provides 4-way or multi-way distribution boards made of aluminum with protective fuses or circuit breakers, generally priced in the US$ 200,000–US$ 600,000 range for home use .

Factors Affecting Price

- Capacity and number of circuits: Cabinets with more circuits or higher amperage ratings cost more.

- Smart features: Units with remote monitoring, overload protection, and AC/DC compatibility are priced higher.

- Brand and certification: Internationally recognized brands like Legrand or Chint often carry a premium due to quality assurance and warranty.

- Installation and delivery: Prices may include delivery within Kampala, but shipping to other regions can add extra costs .

Recommendations

- Assess your home's power requirements: Choose a cabinet that matches your total load and future expansion needs.

- Check for smart features: If you want remote monitoring or solar integration, consider smart AC/DC units.

- Compare local suppliers: Platforms like Jiji.ug, KWT Tech Mart, and authorized distributors like Chint Uganda provide a range of options and pricing.

- Professional installation: For safety and compliance, hire a qualified electrician to install the cabinet, especially for smart or high-capacity units. By considering these factors, you can select a home smart power distribution cabinet in Uganda that balances cost, safety, and functionality.
