Key Takeaways

Class IIB explosion-proof distribution boxes in the UAE are available with ATEX, IECEx, and UL certifications, designed for hazardous areas with flammable gases and dust, and can be customized in materials, sizes, and ingress protection.

Class IIB explosion-proof distribution boxes are specifically designed for environments where flammable gases, vapors, or combustible dust may be present, such as chemical plants, refineries, offshore platforms, and petrochemical facilities. These boxes are engineered to contain potential explosions caused by electrical faults, preventing ignition of surrounding hazardous atmospheres .

Certifications and Standards

- ATEX and IECEx certified for Zone 1 and Zone 2 hazardous areas .
- UL certification is also available for compliance with North American standards .
- Designed to meet IEC 60079-1 standards for Exd enclosures .

Materials and Construction

Explosion-proof distribution boxes in the UAE are available in a variety of materials to suit different industrial environments:

- Stainless Steel (304, 316, 316L) – excellent corrosion resistance and mechanical strength .
- Die-Cast Aluminium – lightweight and durable for general industrial use .
- Carbon Steel – available on special orders for heavy-duty applications .
- GRP (Glass Reinforced Polyester) – for chemical resistance and lightweight applications . Material thickness typically ranges around 1.5mm for stainless steel, with options for special coatings, powder coating (RAL7035), or fire-retardant finishes .

Features and Customization

- Ingress Protection: Standard IP65/IP66, with options up to IP68 for waterproof or dustproof requirements .
- Cable Gland Entries: Flexible top, bottom, or side entries, customizable to project specifications .
- Internal Components: Terminals, earth links, and internal wiring can be integrated according to single-line diagrams (SLDs) and client requirements .
- Special Applications: Anti-condensation coatings, breather valves, high-temperature or fire-rated enclosures, and NFPA-compliant designs .

Suppliers in UAE

Several UAE-based suppliers provide Class IIB explosion-proof distribution boxes:

- Prolux International FZC – Offers Exd Die-Cast Aluminium, GRP, and Stainless Steel enclosures, with local assembly and customization .
- Sensor Control LLC – Supplies ATEX/IECEx-certified junction boxes with various sizes (250mm–750mm) and materials, including stainless steel and aluminium .
- Supermec – Provides EJB and CSD series Exd enclosures for chemical, petrochemical, and offshore applications .
- Orostar – Offers custom-designed enclosures in mild steel, GRP, aluminium, and stainless steel, certified for Zone 1 & 2, with engineering support and R&D services .

Class IIB explosion-proof distribution boxes are suitable for:

- Oil & Gas facilities (onshore and offshore)
- Petrochemical plants and refineries
- Power and desalination plants
- Food & beverage production in hazardous zones

- Industrial automation and control systems These boxes ensure safe power distribution, monitoring, and control in environments with flammable gases or combustible dust, providing long-term reliability and compliance with international safety standards . In summary, UAE suppliers offer a wide range of Class IIB explosion-proof distribution boxes with customizable materials, sizes, ingress protection, and certifications, making them suitable for diverse industrial applications in hazardous areas.
